FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

ADAM COHEN ACHIEVES “LEED” ACCREDITATION

Structures Design/Build LLC is pleased to announce that Adam Cohen, co-owner has attained the designation of LEED Accredited Professional from the U.S. Green Building Council. LEED Professional Accreditation is attained through a thorough examination process. Those building professionals who achieve this designation have demonstrated the knowledge and skills needed to successfully steward the LEED certification process.

In recent years public interest in green building has been surging and green projects certified using LEED must complete a rigorous inspection to verify performance in energy efficiency, water conservation, non-toxic materials, and other features.

“Instead of green which is a new term I call it environmentally sustainable healthy construction.” Cohen states “Some of these techniques have been around for a very long time and frankly I am very glad that the conventional building community has begun to embrace these technologies.”

Cohen’s interest in “green building” began over 25 years ago when he attended architecture school at University of Maryland. In the subsequent years he executed numerous environmentally sustainable healthy structures utilizing bioregional materials throughout Southwest Virginia.

Since being formed in 1999 by Steven Strauss and Adam Cohen, Structures Design / Build LLC has been the premier Design/Build company in Southwest and Central Virginia. Structures Design/Build integrates the skills of architects and builders to deliver quality, creative and efficient construction solutions. Their track record of delivering their projects on time and on budget is unrivaled and has earned them the respect and confidence of business leaders and homeowners throughout Virginia.
